

Black Powder Coat

The BL3400 series is an addition to the already popular metal gate lock series. This series uses the same lockcase design as the standard BL3000 series models; however incorporates a lever handle for both sides of the unit. Designed for applications where a lever handle is required for pulling a heavy or outward opening gate. This model is also suitable for the frail or for users who may find a knob difficult to turn. The lever on the keypad side is free turning until the correct code is entered preventing any damage or misuse to the lock.
